Postjobsonce is designed by the recruitment industry, for the industry, to meet the challenges of a digitally driven world. Powered by the cutting-edge technology of Adlogic, Postjobsonce is the leading multi-post tool and technology solution for recruitment businesses of every size.

1

Postjobsonce can be integrated into any recruitment business, regardless of size or of existing systems. Simply create an advertisement once and multi-post it quickly and easily.

'CLICK'

*Submit & Click,
it's that simple!*

2

Postjobsonce gives you access to the largest number of job boards in Australia and New Zealand as well as many other international job boards and social media – and the number is growing all the time. Reach them all in one simple step.

Choose where you want the ad to be seen – whether it's job boards, social networking sites or even your own corporate website. Choose from over 100 outlets at the click of a mouse.

Choose from the major job boards or the specialist boards. These smaller players are now well established and increasingly recognised as a great alternative for recruiters, due to their value for money and targeted candidate reach.

Harness the potential of Web 2.0 with Postjobsonce. Reach a broad range of social networking sites, use video technology or be found by search engines.

Print is still a highly effective outlet for attracting some candidates. Use Postjobsonce to reach these people in a simple and efficient way.

Make your corporate website work harder, with up to date job listings and information. Postjobsonce can post ads straight to your website, helping to build an online presence for your agency.
